fboss 3 days ago

- @crudlerlu #edchatie Library and archives are doing a lot of cool stuff in this type of space that is not hitting teachers radar

johnmayo 3 days ago

- #edchatie Wonder if @NCCA_ceo will determine teacher must use a particular platform #anyenglishteachersknow?

peter_lydon 3 days ago

- I think viewing e-portfolios as a project to be assessed defeats the purpose. It is a collection and a presentation of learning. #edchatie

seomraranga 3 days ago

• #edchatie There seems to be a sense of accomplishment for those who put in the work, something to take with them. #workinprogress

ConnollyTrevor 3 days ago

• @ConnollyTrevor I think students need to manage and control own portfolio in some way so their work is always theirs #edchatie

fboss 3 days ago

• #edchatie Should portfolios be held within a 'wrapper' provided by the organisation, or curated by the user from an amalgam of applications?

IaninSheffield 3 days ago

• @peter_lydon @NCCA_ceo Digital portfolio wasn't even mentioned in the latest outline of new JC. #edchatie

conorsmurf 3 days ago

• @fboss Hi all, Catherina from Dublin. What's the topic for today? #edchatie

CatherinaFisher 3 days ago

• Students need coaching along the way in creating an e-portfolio. Not something to be completed at end of year. #edchatie

pickledtreats 3 days ago

• @ConnollyTrevor Have heard of a couple of US schools who gave leaving students their own domain names as a gift #edchatie

fboss 3 days ago

• @fboss Key point there is not to be locked in to provider online. Backup and have somewhere else to display your work #edchatie

dermotcasey 3 days ago

• @conorsmurf @peter_lydon @NCCA_ceo Seems very surprising? #edchatie

seomraranga 3 days ago

• it is called <http://t.co/Fhyb7sS3w7> #edchatie very pretty !!!

johnmayo 3 days ago

• @fboss I like the idea of them changing the portfolio for a given audience, value also in a snap shot in time, to show growth. #edchatie

ConnollyTrevor 3 days ago

• @conorsmurf Pen and paper can still have a place in a digital portfolio. Students can upload photos, scans, and reflect on work. #edchatie

pickledtreats 3 days ago

• @catherinem23 @7MJB I think a digital portfolio should move with the student from Primary to Secondary (and on...) #edchatie

fboss 3 days ago

• For languages allows video and audio contents to be put in easily #edchatie

sandrinepk 3 days ago

• @IaninSheffield I love the idea of letting the user decide, but that can be too challenging for some age groups. #edchatie

pickledtreats 3 days ago

• @dermotcasey The 'port' in portfolio is a crucial aspect for lifelong learning #edchatie

IaninSheffield 3 days ago

• @catherinem23 @fboss We have work saved in folders on computers, nothing further yet! #edchatie

7MJB 3 days ago

- @IaninSheffield I think it's important to have "wrappers" that are flexible and able to easily connect w/ other services, though. #edchatie

pickledtreats 3 days ago

- @CatherinaFisher Tonight's #edchatie topic is "Digital Portfolios - futile or worthwhile" (I'm really enjoying this topic) #edchatie

fboss 3 days ago

- @dermotcasey @fboss Not with school principals #edchatie

johnmayo 3 days ago

- @dermotcasey Agree, which raises the further point of viewing digital portfolios as part of a person's/student's digital identity #edchatie

fboss 3 days ago

- #edchatie @conorsmurf @seomraranga I understand English teachers will have to upload samples of their kids work.

peter_lydon 3 days ago

- allows more freedom of expression as work can take more formats #edchatie

sandrinepk 3 days ago

- @pickledtreats Indeed. And there are an increasing number which enable this these days. #edchatie

IaninSheffield 3 days ago

- @fboss @catherinem23 Agree, so what is the best way to set up that sort of ePortfolio? #edchatie

7MJB 3 days ago

- @conorsmurf #edchatie NCCA put out a tender for a new platform so case of wait and see I guess..

peter_lydon 3 days ago

- @johnmayo #edchatie new demands for digital skills in future = students of all levels would benefit from collaboration between libs/schools

crudlerlu 3 days ago

- @pickledtreats Totally agree. it is a year's work and progress to be recorded #edchatie

sandrinepk 3 days ago

- @johnmayo @fboss of course not. It's all about knowing your audience :- Relics can survive for a long time, and will #edchatie

dermotcasey 3 days ago

johnmayo 3 days ago

• #edchatie Do we see a digital portfolio as a product - a series of artefacts? Or as a process - a reflective account of learning? Or both?

IaninSheffield 3 days ago

• #edchatie would be nice to have an assessment method that parents understand-often they just don't get it. ePortfolios might help a bit.

peter_lydon 3 days ago

• #edchatie the two things I have difficulty with is prompting sincere student reflection and teacher engagement

friedacrehan 3 days ago

@IaninSheffield let them devise assessment for themselves at beginning of topic. assessment for others too. #edchatie

sandrinepk 3 days ago

@IaninSheffield I would say both #edchatie

johnmayo 3 days ago

This is great but how many teachers would feel comfortable teaching them? #edchatie

conorsmurf 3 days ago

@IaninSheffield #edchatie Has to be both but with emphasis on reflection.

seomraranga 3 days ago

@IaninSheffield i would say both. part of the idea of portfolio. stds need training in thinking that way about learning. #edchatie

sandrinepk 3 days ago

I would tend to favour one with in built RSS feeds as I live my digital life through it #edchatie #thatisjustmethough

PEPSI MAX'S 2010 FOOTBALL ADVERT FT AKON'S 'OH ...

What first catches my attention in this ad is seeing footballers being used to endorse the product. These footballers are the best in the world and some of all time and so any football fan would immediately love it. Next we see the best of the best footballers play African villagers for Pepsi. This gets the viewer excited to see the best players in the world play alongside each other for once. When Drogba asks 'where's the pitch' we see the villagers make one using themselves. Then the music starts and suddenly the ad becomes humorous and jovial. Akon, a famous singer, appears with his song making fans of music a target audience as well as football fans. As the ad goes on we see it gets funnier and funnier eg: Lionel Messi running into a tree. When the final goal is scored and the villagers win we see the celebrations commence by both villagers and footballers by drinking Pepsi. The camera brings our attention to the famous Pepsi logo. This ad highly promotes the product by the use of endorsements and the humorous joyous nature of the ad itself.

• @glynmark Should do Mark, what would be your recommended e-portfolio platform? #edchatie

ConnollyTrevor 2 days ago

• @CatherinaFisher Well, a digital portfolio should be able to reflect participation in online activities like #edchatie

fboss 2 days ago

• @fboss That's very good idea. #edchatie , #edchat , #gtie thought me so much. I wish it would be a way to save such learning into e-portfolio
